As players will see, it is divided into two sections, with the top section indicating adjacency bonuses and the bottom highlighting any building restrictions, both of which are very useful in determining the best layouts for Districts in Civ 6. Campuses in as many cities as possible ensure that your Science Victory is possible, but protect your Campuses (and Spaceports) with Spies to prevent crushing late-game sabotages. Its buildings add experience and slots for your air units. Science lets you move through the Technology tree, keeping ahead of your competitors and enabling you to easily crush them in case of any surprise war. The number under World Ranking > Tourism is how many international tourists you have attracted (by pulling them away from whatever wonders they have in their home country with your superior attractions). Civilization 6 is available for iOS, Linux, Nintendo Switch, PC, PlayStation 4, and Xbox One. If you don't have many luxury resources and can't trade for them, you'll need to construct these in your unhappiest cities. It provides housing based on Appeal of the tile, as follows:Breathhtaking, +6 HousingCharming, +5 HousingAverage, +4 HousingUninviting, +3 HousingDisgusting, +2 HousingDon't waste the Neighborhood's big Housing bonus on anything less than a Charming tile! It takes up a whole tile that could be taken up by almost anything else. If you see a great location nearby, but do not yet own it, you can purchase the tile from within the lens, and then start construction of the district. It's end. Feel free to contribute the topic. Check out this Civilization 6 district cheat sheet to learn everything you need to know about districts. AerodromeThe Aerodrome is necessary to keep an edge in late-game warfare. Now, William enjoys playing Super Mario Maker 2 on the Switch with his daughter and finding time to sneak in the newest From Software game when possible. Click on the district to order the city to begin construction, which opens the district placement lens. This means that players should plan to build each of these Districts in triangular formations with two others in order to maximize their production. Fortunately, one industrious Civilization 6 fan has made a Districts cheat sheet, which will make it much easier for players to setup the best District layouts. Upon graduating from the University of Southern California's School of Cinematic Arts, William entered the realm of fine arts administration, assisting curators, artists, and fine art professionals with the realization of contemporary art exhibitions. It's integrated with Google Drive to store your forms in the cloud. Anyone with a Google account can use Forms for free. Here, you will be given an overview of the different yield outcomes available on the Tiles surrounding your City Center so you can better make a decision about where to place your new district. The map is more important than ever as you are faced with important strategic placement decisions. With Civic: Rapid Deployment, airports let you airlift land units, a lifesaver that spares you the endless trudge across the sea. This Civilization 6 Districts cheat sheet comes from Reddit user anonxanemone, and it is up-to-date through the Gathering Storm expansion. However, with so many different Districts in Civ 6, it can be hard to keep track of all of the relevant adjacency bonuses and building requirements. This would then give then the player two adjacent Districts, and they could now plan to add a Government Plaza to complete a triangle and boost the adjacency bonuses of both the Holy Site and Campus. I hope "Civilization 6 District Cheat Sheet" helps you. They can also see that Campuses receive an adjacency bonus from Mountains, so perhaps it makes sense to place one of those next to a Holy Site that is along a Mountain range. This guide takes you through the basics of designing a form, deploying it online, and viewing the responses it gathers. Share this story: G Suite administrators, we hope you'll pass this guide on to your users to help them get up to speed with Google Forms. This interest reached a height with MMORPGs like Asheron's Call 2, Star Wars Galaxies, and World of Warcraft, on which William spent considerable time up until college. All the while, William's passion for games remained. More From William Parks Confused about districts in Civ 6? So too, an interest in Magic: The Gathering has persisted since William's youth, and he can frequently be found watching Magic streams on Twitch and reading over the latest set spoilers. William's first console was the NES, but when he was eight, it was The Legend of Zelda: Link's Awakening on Game Boy that fully cemented his interest in the format. Each turn, you gain tourists based on your tourism. If so, you can design and deploy it right from your web browser with Google Forms. Otherwise, distracting rebels will spawn, pillaging your improvements and otherwise causing a ruckus. Campuses and Holy Sites alike receive special yield boosts from placement near Mountains, but only the former also benefits from a nearby source of Rainforests.Civilization 6 District Cheat SheetA guide to where you should build your districts for your cities for the best productivity.Click to enlarge.Building DistrictsWhen a city is ready to construct a new item, the city's "Production Menu" will appear. Civilization VI: Gathering Storm District Cheat Sheet from civ For fans that need some help determining exactly how to employ the information provided by this Civilization 6 District cheat sheet, the first step is identifying a District that is of interest. For example, if a player is planning for their first Civ 6 District to be a Holy Site, they can find it on this cheat sheet and know that it is best to place it next to Natural Wonders, Mountain, and Wood tiles. Culture expands your city borders and pushes you through the Civics tree, allowing you to unlock new Policies and Governments. 7 inconvenient truths about the hybrid work trend Games » Civilizations 6 » Civ 6 District Adjacency Bonus Cheat Sheet Guideby anonxanemoneAugust Update introduces a new major adjacency bonus for the Theater Square from Entertainment Complex and Water Park so here is a diagram summarizing all the adjacencies! (Valid with the Gathering Storm expansion, click to zoom)The District Guide for Vanilla (no expansion): Buildings are no longer trapped in your City Center, but may sprawl across your territory as part of Districts. In later eras, the Theater Square and its associated Great Works will provide the kind of Tourism that will help you win a Culture Victory (more on winning a Culture Victory here).Note: the number on the top bar next to the suitcase is how much tourism you are generating per turn. If you have also comments or suggestions, comment us.More of this sort of thing:Sid Meier's Civilization VI - Tips and Tricks for BeginnersSid Meier's Civilization VI CheatsCivilization 6 PC Keyboard Controls/Hotkeys Proper District placement in Civilization 6 is extremely important, as adjacency bonuses can have a huge impact on how much players benefit from their Districts. The World Ranking tells you how many tourists you must attract from abroad in order to win. Religion is pretty powerful in Civ 6 , even marking a new victory condition ( read our Religious Victory guide here ). Build it next to mines and quarries for big production bonuses. The Neighborhood doesn't have any adjacency bonuses, so place it anywhere that looks good. But depending on how you structure your pantheon and religion (and you should absolutely try to nab a religion), you can use faith to pay for anything from granaries and ancient walls, to specialist buildings, to land units, making the generation of faith a critical path to success.Replaced by Lavra (Russia)Unlocks with Technology: Astrology+1 Great Prophet point per turn+2 Faith from each adjacent natural wonder+1 Faith from each adjacent Mountain on Plains, Desert, Tundra or Snow tiles+1 Faith from every 2 adjacent Woods tiles+1 Faith from every 2 adjacent district tiles+2 Faith per citizenDomestic trade yield: +1 FoodInternational trade yield: +1 FaithBuildingsShrineAllows the purchasing of Missionaries with Faith+2 Faith+1 Citizen slot+1 Great Prophet point per turnMaintenance Cost: 1 goldTempleAllows the purchasing of Apostles with FaithReplaced by Stave Church (Norway)Requires: ShrineUnlocks with Civic: Theology+4 Faith+1 Citizen slot+1 Citizen slot+1 Great Prophet point per turn+1 Relic slotMaintenance cost: 2 goldUnlocked by Religious Beliefs (use an Apostle to Evangelize Belief and select one for your religion)Cathedral+3 Faith+1 Citizen slot+1 Great Work of Religious Art slotGurdwara+3 Faith+2 Food+1 Citizen slotMeeting House+3 Faith+2 Production+1 Citizen slotMosquePagoda+3 Faith+1 Housing+1 Citizen slotSynagogueWat+3 Faith+2 Science+1 Citizen slotIndustrial ZoneThe industrial zone is key to almost any successful strategy, as it increases your city's production and therefore lets you get more done in less time. Alternatively, they could complete the triangle with a Theater Square, Harbor, Commercial Hub, or Industrial Zone to give one of those Districts the additional adjacency bonus and go on from there. If a district is available to be constructed, it will appear on the menu on the right hand side of the screen. This lens will also show you which tiles are unavailable, as some districts have very specific build requirements (for example, the Encampment cannot be built adjacent to a City Center). One thing that is not made immediately clear by this Civ 6 Districts chart is that the Theater Square, Harbor, Commercial Hub, and Industrial Zone all receive +1 adjacency bonuses when next to two other Districts. By unlocking a bonus trade route and providing plentiful gold bonuses, you can harness the power of the sea to make your civilization richer and more productive.
